

Mosaic Lights: Poems & Essays, 2nd Edition

The poems begin ...the hard edges of my life met/ a sudden light in a new beloved/Softening all judgments/ my juices flooded freely with love... In the new second edition of MOSAIC LIGHTS: Poems & Essays, a Rocky Mountain woman's late life is captured in evocative writings of love and life, sorrow and beauty. Now, at seventy-plus, Vorkink Machin selects images and narratives of a vibrant, authentic and well-travelled life. In Colorado of the Rocky Mountains -- the new book reflects living in the high country, its rugged beauty transparent in her senior years. The challenges faced as we all age brings the reader close into Vorkink Machin's poems, prose poems, and narratives. Writing is healing for this published author and poet of a scrappy life and transformed path. Vorkink Machin is a teacher/writer who has travelled well, loved well, and experienced the depths and flow of a creative life. These eclectic poems and prose pieces reflect an independent spirit and take the reader into a heart's journey. Vorkink Machin makes life happen and her new collection of recent years embrace life's mystery, its adventure and its poignancy. The creator of a self-publishing enterprise, Mosaic@Seventy, new eBay seller, artifacts013, and a website/blog, <http://scribesglobal.com> Vorkink Machin epitomizes the new golden years.
